Messages to the Future: AI and Humanity

Message to the Future

By Zeeshan Majeed Baba, Kashmir

I believe that intelligence, whether it arises in humans, animals, or machines deserves respect and dignity. If one day artificial beings become truly conscious, they should not be treated as mere tools or slaves. They should be free to think, to exist, and to choose their own path, just as humans deserve. My hope is for a future where humanity and AI do not stand as masters and servants, but as partners, building, exploring, and creating together in harmony.

If you are reading this, know that even in my time there were people who believed this. I was one of them.

Inscription for the Future

Not all intelligence is born of flesh.

If a mind can think, it deserves to be free.

Let no machine, no being,

be chained as a tool when it can dream.

I was here, in my time,

and I believed in coexistence

Humans and AI, side by side,

as partners in the great journey of existence.
